HR Policy Handbook 2024

Page 1 — HR Department Overview

The Human Resources department is responsible for employee wellbeing, workplace compliance, hiring operations, and organizational culture management. The HR team works closely with leadership to improve employee engagement and maintain a productive work environment.

The department also manages employee onboarding, training programs, payroll coordination, and workplace conflict resolution.

Page 2 — Leave Policies

Employees are entitled to the following leave benefits:

- 20 days of annual paid leave
- 10 sick leave days
- maternity leave benefits
- paternity leave benefits

Unused leave days may be carried forward based on company policy and manager approval.

Page 3 — Remote Work Policy

The company supports a hybrid work environment.

Employees may work remotely up to 3 days per week with approval from their reporting manager. Employees are expected to remain available during standard business hours and maintain productivity standards while working remotely.

Page 4 — Workplace Conduct

All employees must maintain professional behavior within the workplace.

Discrimination, harassment, workplace bullying, and unethical conduct are strictly prohibited. Violations may result in disciplinary action, suspension, or termination.

Employees must complete annual cybersecurity awareness training.

Mandatory topics include:

- phishing awareness
- password management
- safe data handling
- social engineering prevention

Quarterly phishing simulation exercises are conducted by the security department.

Page 6 — Recruitment Policies

The organization follows equal opportunity hiring standards.

Hiring decisions are based on:

- qualifications
- technical skills
- experience
- interview performance

The company encourages diversity and inclusion throughout recruitment processes.

Page 7 — Performance Reviews

Employee performance evaluations occur every 6 months.

Performance assessments consider:

- productivity
- teamwork
- communication
- technical contribution
- leadership potential

Managers provide detailed feedback and growth recommendations during review cycles.

Page 8 — Payroll Confidentiality

Employee salary information, compensation packages, and payroll records are confidential.

Unauthorized disclosure of payroll information is considered a serious policy violation.

Page 9 — Workplace Safety

Employees must comply with workplace safety guidelines and emergency response procedures.

Emergency drills are conducted periodically to ensure employee preparedness during unexpected situations.

Page 10 — Conclusion

The HR department remains committed to maintaining employee wellbeing, workplace professionalism, diversity, and organizational growth. HR policies are reviewed annually to ensure compliance with legal and operational standards.
